THE STRIKE NOT YET SETTLED

ALL MINERS ARE STANDING FIRM.

Will Pay no Attention to Offer of Increased Wages Unless the Union is Recognized—Reading Railroad Hauled no Coal Today for the First Time in Years—Shows the Thoroughness of the Strike—Operations Unsuccessfully Attempted in the Ninth District.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Shamokin, Pa., Oct. 1.—All the superintendents of the numerous collieries in this portion of the Ninth United Workers District attempted to begin work in their mines this morning. Few, if any, miners went to work. Business men expected a stampede among their employees. The Reading Railroad, Coal and Iron Company counted on a ten per cent. advance this morning, but were disappointed.

THOROUGHNESS OF THE STRIKE.

Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 1.—The thoroughness of the strike was shown today. For the first time in years no coal went out over the Reading Railroad, which ordinarily sends out hundreds of cars daily. All the mines are cleaned up. The workings are empty and not a ton of coal is left to send to tidewater.

STRIKERS STILL FIRM.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct, 1.—The strikers in the Wyoming and Lackawanna districts will pay no attention, their leaders say, to the offer of a ten per cent. increase, which is expected in a day or two, unless it includes a recognition of the union, nor will they think of going back to work allowing their grievances to be arbitrated. If there is any arbitration it must come before they resume work. Once back in the mines, they say it will not be easy to get the men to go on strike again.

If the companies should break faith with the men, or the settlement should not be satisfactory, having allowed their union to be ignored, their organization would be but an empty shell.

ANOTHER SURPRISE MARRIAGE.

Mr. Hall and Miss Mayo Elope to Reidsville, Where They Are Wed.

Another surprise marriage, in which Greensboro people were the contracting parties, was celebrated in Reidsville yesterday afternoon. The couple married were Mr. Lyndon T. Hall and Miss Annie Mayo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Mayo. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. J. Poe.

Mr. Hall went to Reidsville on the early morning train, his bride following at noon. She was accompanied by Mr. Roscoe Ward. The license had previously been secured and other arrangements made by Mr. James Dilworth, who went to Reidsville Saturday night. Objection to the match on the part of the parents of the young lady was the occasion of the elopement.

The party returned on the local passenger train last evening, being met at the station by a number of friends.

The groom will leave shortly for Baltimore to take a position with the General Electric Company.

Excellent Music at the Catholic Church Yesterday.

The choir of St. Benedict's church rendered some excellent music yesterday. Rosewig's mass, in G, was produced in a creditable manner. The soloists were Mrs. Charles Holt, Miss Agnes Duffy and Mr. McSorley, each singing their respective parts with fine effect. Mrs. Holt is one of the latest members of the choir and possesses a sweet, voluminous voice, as was proven yesterday.

The rendition of the "Et in Carnatus Est" and "Crucifixus," by Mrs. Holt, was perfect.

Her singing charmed the audience, and all pronounced her solos exceptionally fine and well rendered.

Views of Improved and Unimproved Roads

On exhibition at The Telegram office are quite a number of photographs of some improved and unimproved roads of Guilford county. The views present striking contrasts and show more plainly than words can tell the value of improved roads.

Among the views are several photographs of the Summit avenue extension, the Pomona road and the Oak Ridge road. The photographs were recently taken by Mr. S. L. Alderman.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.

Judge Boyd's First Term—Will Get Down to Busines Tomorrow.

The October term of Federal Court was formally opened in the United States Marshal's office today by Judge Boyd. No bussiness was transacted, the session being immediately adjourned until tomorrow, when the trial of cases will be taken up. Court will, as usual, be held in the county court house.

This is Judge Boyd's first term of court since his appointment to the Federal judgeship.

The usual large number of moonshiners, witnesses and lawyers began to pour in from the mountain counties of the district today. About twenty-five arrived on the trains from Mt. Airy and Winston at noon, and the remainder are expected this evening and tomorrow.

A GAME OF CRAPS INTERRUPTED.

Officers Run Against a Crowd of Negroes Taking a Little Sunday Diverson.

While strolling through Duplin yesterday morning Chief Scott and Officer Merritt ran upon a suspicious crowd of young negro boys on the shady side of a house. A hasty look convinced them that the boys were engaged in that game of games—craps. But the young coons were on the lookout, and when the officers turned the corner they fled precipitately. The leader of the gang, in his haste, stumbled over a box and fell, being captured by the policemen. The others made their escape. They left several dice and six cents in change behind them.

While the game was going on, a dilapidated looking negro was exhorting a small crowd on the opposite side of the house to forsake their sins and clothe themselves in "de white robes of de Lamb."

MR. M'DUFFIE GOES BACK.

Will Resume the Furniture Business at His Old Stand.

Mr. N. J. McDuffie, who recently sold his furniture business to Goldstein & Shevel, has bonght these gentlemen out and will continue the business at the same stand on South Elm street. The stock will be immediately increased and other improvements made.

Mr. McDuffie is probably one of the best posted furniture men in the South, having been engaged in this line for years and being thoroughly conversant in every detail. It is his intention in the future to conduct both a wholesale and retail business. It goes without saying that he will meet with continued success.

Iron Moulders' Union Organized.

The iron moulders of Greensboro have organized themselves into a labor union, a branch of the Iron Moulders' Union of America. The object of the organization is mutual protection. It is understood that a majority of the moulders of the city are members of the new union.

"THE FOUR SOCIAL EVILS."

SUBJECT OF MR. MARTIN'S LECTURE.

Card-Playing, Theater-Going, Social Drinking and Dancing the Four Great Evils—Progressive Euchre Responsible for Much Gambling—Theaters Debasing. The Saloon Business is the Lowest Occupation on God's Footstool—The Dancing School More Dangerous Than the Saloon.

West Washington Street Baptist church was filled to overflowing yesterday afternoon by people anxious to hear Rev. Mr. Martin's lecture on "The Four Social Evils." The building was packed from one end to the other, the aisles being filled with chairs until there was not standing room left. The large congregation listened with the closest attention to the interesting and forceful lecture

Before going into his discourse Mr. Martin stated that he would say nothing harsh or offensive; that the Bible did not warrant any minister in the use of indecent or immodest language, and that he abhorred sermons to men only.

The four social evils of which he spoke were characterized as card-playing, theater-going, social drinking and gambling.

The speaker first took up card-playing, and said that there was no harm in the cards themselves, nor in a social game, but he would not advise Christians to play, as they were liable to be led astray. A noted gambler was quoted as saying that the parlor card table was the kindergarten to hell, and that nine out of ten men who frequent gambling dens first learned to handle cards in a home.

Mr. Martin was especially severe on progressive euchre, saying it was the starting point in the downward course of many men and women. "There are in Greensboro," he said, two notable cases of ruin, starting from progressive euchre. There are now in this city two young men who are expert gamblers, and the mothers of both learned them to play cards. Through the influence of one of these young men a home in Greensboro has been wrecked. Progressive euchre is nothing in the world but gambling, and the men are not the only ones being ruined by it. Women, too, are going to hell by this means."

Theater-going occupied the second division of the subject. Mr. Martin said there were many plays in which there was no harm and there were many people who could attend theaters without harm to themselves. "It is a fact," said the speaker, "that you often see on billboards pictures which bring a blush of shame to the face of even a man. When you go to plays thus advertised you countenance language, dressing and pose of the body that you would not think of countenancing in the home. In that way, the theater is encroaching on the modesty of the womanhood of the land. There is not a man who makes a practice of attending theaters who has not had his lower nature debased by so doing."

Of the evil of social drinking Mr. Martin said: "I understand that here in Greensboro you are again to have the open saloon. May God pity you! Now I want to speak to the men who are preparing to run those saloons. So far as his business is concerned, the saloonkeeper is the lowest being on God's footstool. Don't misunderstand me; there are men engaged in the business who have some noble principles of character, but they are taking the lowest and meanest avenue to making a living the world ever knew.

"The saloon-keeper, however, does not wield the most pernicious influence. The most pernicious influence is wielded by the gentleman who 'never drinks too much.' He is the Devil's bait. The church member who drinks makes just a little better bait. Be an honest man! If you drink, go to the church and have it unloaded of the incubns of your membership. If you are a church member, and continue to drink, you are a hypocrite.

"But the Devil's chief bait in leading the world down to hell is the jewelled hand of the society woman. It is far more pernicious than the gilded saloon. If the women of our country would take a firm stand against the use of wine on the table, and would not tolerate the presence of any man who drank, the liquor business would be destroyed. If the women of Greensboro would turn against it the business would be killed in this city."

In speaking of dancing the minister said he believed the average young women and young men who danced were ignorant of the consequences. The average young man or woman did not go to the ballroom with any wrong intentions, but the danger was in arousing the passions and in the contact of the sexes on the dancing floor.

In reference to the evil of dancing he read the testimony of leading men and women of the Methodist, Presbyterian, Catholic, Episcopalian and Baptist churches, as well as the testimony of several well known people of the world.

Mr. Martin asserted that the dancing school was a greater evil than the saloon, and said that a large majority of the fallen women were started on their downward course by the dance. "Of the 500,000 fallen women in America," said the preacher, "it is estimated that the round dance is responsible for at least 300,000 of them. A man cannot go into a ballroom and take a woman, dressed in short sleeves and low-neck, in his arms and be the same man afterwards. But while the dance is ruining thousands of women, it is sending five times the number of men to hell."

In closing his lecture Mr. Martin said: "May God stop short anything I may have said that is contrary to His Word."

Oak Ridge Institute Thanked for the Generous Relief Extended Prof. Ransom.

To the Editor of The Telegram:

The teachers and students of Oak Ridge Institute sent Prof. H. H. Ransom $24.25, amount collected for him in response to a letter to us. The school, and not J. A. and M. H. Holt, should have the credit. Prof. Ransom was at one time a teacher here, and hence the amount was sent to him personally. It will be seen from his letter enclosed that he turned it over to the general fund. Clipping from Galveston News is enclosed.

Yours truly,
J. A. and M. H. HOLT.

Oak Ridge, Sept. 29th.

Galveston, Sept. 24th.—Dear Friends—I received your letter of the 21st, or rather a letter from Mr. L. H. Battle, cashier of the City National Bank, of Greensboro, N. C., enclosing New York exchange for ($24.25) twenty-four dollars and twenty-five cents. I have turned this over to the Galveston News to be paid to the relief committee, of which Mr. Sealy is treasurer.

I had relief and do not wish to be aided by subscription. I enclose you a notice from the News showing you that the Oak Ridge Institute contribution has gone to the relief fund. When I wrote you and spoke of us and we I meant Galveston people in general, and while I am out of a position, as there is no telling when schools will open, I am unwilling to take help except as a loan to be paid back. Thanking you both again,

Very truly,
H. H. RANSON.

THE FIRE FIGHTERS WILL QUIT

FOR LACK OF SUITABLE QUARTERS

Eagle Hose Company and the Hook and Ladder Company to Resign From the Fire Department—The City Has Failed to Fulfil Its Promise by Providing Adequate Accommodations—Fire Fighting Force Will be Reduced More Than Half.

The indications are that the Greensboro Fire Department is to be seriously crippled by the loss of two of the strongest companies. At the next meeting of the Board of Aldermen the Eagle Hose Company and the Hook and Ladder Company will resign from the department, the resignations to become operative December 1st.

The reason assigned for this action is the lack of suitable quarters and adequate accommodations for the companies. The need of these has been felt for years, but the companies have held on, relying on promises made from time to time that they should be provided for. When the $300,000 bond issue was carried it was thought that the time was then short until the Eagle Hose Company and the Hook and Ladder Company would jointly occupy a new and handsome building.

Time rolled on, however, and but little was being said of fulfilling the promises made the firemen. Still hopeful themselves, the members of the two companies renewed the agitation, and after vigorously bombarding the Board of Aldermen, they were promised that the building should be erected on the site of the city market. An architect was ordered to prepare plans and specifications for the structure, and bids for the construction of the building were asked for.

But another snag was struck. At the last moment the Board of Aldermen was unable to see from what source the necessary amount of money was to come, and the matter was deferred indefinitely. Not until then did the members of the companies affected decide to resingn from the department and disband. This decision was reached with regret by the firemen, who are among the most faithful and useful members of the department.

They feel that they owe something to the citizens of Greensboro, who have always stood by them and supported them in every possible way, and for this reason the sixty days' notice was given. This will give the city time to arrange for the loss that will be sustained by the resignation of these companies.

Over half the membership of the Greensboro Fire Department is included in the membership of the Eagle Hose Company and the Hook and Ladder Company, and thus it can be seen to what extent the fire fighting force of the city will be reduced. The companies own the majority of the apparatus they use.

DEAD NEGRO'S BODY VIEWED.

THOUSANDS HAVE GAZED UPON IT

Corporation Commission Makes Answer in the Tax Assessment Case—Many Will Attend the Convention of the Daughters of the Confederacy—Nothing Doing in the State Offices—Large Attendance at the Raleigh Schools and Colleges.

Special Correspondence of The Telegram.

Raleigh, Oct. 1.—Ten thousand people have, since Tom Jones was hanged, August 31, seen his embalmed body in the undertaker's office. Photographs of Jones have been taken. His body stands on its feet and it is really so lifelike that only the opening of the eyes is necessary to make the deception complete. There are photographs showing Jones standing against a door. In one of them he has a cloth about his waist, a silk hat on his head and a cane in his hand. In another he is shown in a coffin. All day the streams of visitors enter the place. The negroes believe that Jones walks each night. Never was there such an opportunity to get out negro superstitions. Negroes are told that if they touch the body they will not dream of it. They overcome their fear and touch it. The undertaker must soon turn over the body, and deeply regrets parting with it.

The police have made perhaps a dozen raids after "Boots" Brown, the other negro murderer, but all unavailingly.

The attorneys for the Corporation Commission have made their answer to the complaint of the railways as to the tax assessment. The reply is long and technical. In brief it sets forth that the commission has ample power to make the assessment, and that railway property is not overrated nor other property underrated.

At the State Convention of the Daughters of the Confederacy here October 8-9, there will be 56 delegates; a number over one fourth larger than ever before.

The Supreme Court will this week devote itself to hearing appeals from the second district.

In the various departments here only routine work is in progress and it is dull in the extreme. The Corporation Commission has no cases of importance set; the Agricultural Department is featureless save for its excellent show of Western North Carolina apples; the auidtor is getting the piles of pension applications in shape so the warrants can get out by December; the Secretary of States is arranging the bundles of early land grants, surveys, etc., into tidy filing cases; Gov. Russell is taking things easy, after having gotten rid of the most troublesome applications for pardon; Father Worth is waiting for money to come into the treasury and thinking of new ways to keep from paying any out; the commissioner of insurance is issuing license to agents to do business; the adjutant general's office is running itself in the quietest of ways, only the messenger being there nine-tenths of the time. Altogether it is deadly dull.

The attendance at the colleges here is larger than ever before. The city schools (except the Wiley, which it will require at least another week to make ready) will open tomorrow with an enrollment larger than heretofore.

Dr. J. M. Ayer, a well known dentist here, retires from practice and tomorrow will go to New York, where he has bought a seat on the stock exchange.

One of the cables swung here 40 feet above the street by the new telephone company, is the largest ever put up in the air. It has 304 wires. No other city would permit it to be put anywhere save under ground. A big windstorm here will, no doubt, put it on the ground.

WANTED BOY, GOT THREE.

Brooklyn Letter Carrier Finds His Cup of Blessing Full and Running Over.

When George Hamlin, a letter carrier of Brooklyn, knew that he was to be a proud father his agitation was somewhat increased by a great desire that the newcomer should be a boy. While he was hanging anxiously around home the doctor came from upstairs and held out his hand.

"Congratulate you," he said. "It's a boy." Then the doctor went back to his patient.

Hamlin, left alone, promptly began to map out the future career of his heir. He was to be a model of virtue. His education should leave nothing to be desired, and when he had graduated with more honors than were ever captured by any other student he was to be a business man or—

The reentrance of the doctor interrupted his thoughts.

"More congratulations, Hamlin. It's another boy!" declared the medico. Hamlin's jaw dropped a trifle. The news was something in the nature of an embarrassment of riches.

Again the doctor left him to meditate over his suddenly increased family, but before the father could collect his thoughts the physician was with him once more.

"There's another, Hamlin!" he declared.

The proud parent's knees shook. "You don't mean—" he began.

"I do. You've three boys. I guess you've got your wish."

Mrs. Hamlin and all the little Hamlins are doing exeellently, and the father is a firm believer in the efficacy of a wish.

NEW STAMPING MACHINE.

Chicago Postal Authorities Are Testing a New Cancellation Plant.

A new stamp-canceling machine is being tried at the Chicago post office previous to its adoption or rejection by the United States postal department. Its inventor claims that it is capable of canceling 125,000 letters every hour. The machines which are now used in the office have a capacity of from 40,000 to 50,000 letters an hour. They all work on the principle of either a rubber or leather band, with pin points to draw the letters under the canceling die.

This new machine uses the principle of suction to feed in the letters. A large wheel at regular intervals perforated with holes, under each one of which there is an air pump, revolves rapidly. A bundle of letters is laid on this wheel, and each hole as it comes around sucks a letter tight to the wheel, where it is carried under the stamper. About 800,000 letters are canceled in the Chicago post office daily, and if this machine is a success it will be able to take the place of a large number of the present machines.

TURNED HIS HAIR WHITE.

Pennsylvanian Plunges Over Precipice with Horse and Buggy—Saved by a Tree.

Councilman Hiram W. Kistler, formerly mayor of Stroudsburg, Pa., had a thrilling experience the other afternoon. He does not see why he was not killed or at least terribly injured unless it was because he had just taken out an accident insurance policy for $5,000. As it was, however, he came out of the accident without a scratch, but a part of his hair was turned white as a result of a few minutes of terrible peril.

Mr. Kistler had driven out to his farm, about 20 miles from Stroudsburg, and on his return, coming down Hipsie's gap, a dangerously steep mountain cut, his horse stumbled, lost his balance, and horse, buggy and driver were dashed down the gap, the bottom of which is 200 feet from the road.

Half-way down is a clump of trees. The horse passed through two of these, but the carriage was too wide and was caught. No damage was done to the wagon. Mr. Kistler said:

"The sensation of going down Hipsie's gap is something like shooting the chutes without the same feeling of security as to how you will round up. It happened at a point where the the road is very narrow. My horse blundered and was instantly over the bank. Had he not struck the tree he would have landed at the foot of the ravine and been mangled beyond recognition.

"Assistance came at just the time when my strength was about exhausted or I would never have recovered my horse or wagon. By using rope, the lines, halters and parts of the harness we made a long hitch to the carriage and the united strength of six men lifted it up on the bank. Perhaps my lucky escape is due to the fact that I had just taken out a $5,000 accident policy."

Jack Rabbit Coming East.

The jack rabbit that before the war lived almost entirely on the sandy planis of the west is working its way eastward. A few were seen, now and then, 25 years ago in western Kansas, but now it has almost reached the Mississippi river. Until the plains were settled, Mr. Jack Rabbit fed on the wild plants of the region, but with the breaking of the sod he got his first taste of corn. He concluded that corn was a more agreeable diet than cactus and sage brush, and he has been diligently working eastward, where corn is plentiful. The jack rabbit does not multiply as rapidly as the cotton tail, but he can hold his own. The barbed wire fence must be a great source of comfort to him, too, for he can readily get through it himself, while dogs and men and horses are delayed by it long enough to allow him to make his escape.—Little Chronicle.

CHANGE OF FRONT IN CHINA.

The Suggestions of the United States Have Been Accepted and the Ringleaders of the Disorders Will be Punished

The Associated Press report says that important news has been received in Washington from China which tends to advance materially the efforts for a final settlement. China has accepted the suggestions of the United States contained in the answer to the German proposition and has begun voluntarily the punishment of the reactionary Chinese leaders who were responsible for the Pekin outrages. The Department of State was informed by Consul General Goodnow, at Shanghai, that Sheng, Chinese director of railways and telegraphs, has handed him a decree of the Emperor and Empress, dated at Taignan, September 25th, blaming their ministers for encouraging the Boxers. The edict orders the degradation of four princes and deprives Prince Tuan of his salary and official servants. He is to be brought for trial before the Imperial Clan Court. It will be recalled that in our answer, the State Department was careful to state that while it did not believe in demanding the surrender of the Chinese ringleaders as a condition, it was resolved firmly, as Secretary Hay said in his note of July 3rd, that in the end the guilty parties should be held to the uttermost accountability. The Chinese government has taken this intimation to heart, and perhaps hastened in its action by the recent manifestations of dissatisfaction by the United States government at the reported promotion of Prince Tuar, already has begun the punishment of him and the other Chinese leaders who are held guilty.

The decree recited by Shen is felt to be of the utmost importance as indicating a complete change of heart on the part of the reigning dynasty. It means that the reactionary influences which have been dominant in Pekin through the uprising and have been continued of late, have suffered a complete overthrow and that their most conspicuous figures are on trial. It is believed here that if this action is genuine, it will be hard for any of the powers to find a reasonable pretext for longer refusing to heed the appeals of the Chinese government for the opening of negotiations looking to a settlement.

The importance of the action is shown by the determination to try Prince Tuan before the Imperial Clan Court. This is the supreme judicial tribunal of China, and is the only one having jurisdiction over the members of the imperial family. It is presided over by Prince Li, with the well known Prince Ching as vice-president. Prince Li is the first of the eight princely families of China and is regarded as friendly to the progressive element. The attitute of Prince Ching has been notable throughout the trouble as friendly to foreign interests. There are five other members of the court, all of them high personages.

The Emperor of China Has Cancer.

Dr. Bachmann, of Shanghai, has recently stated in a letter to the Gegenwart that Emperor Kwang-su suffers from cancer of the throat and is unable to reign. The same view is taken by Dr. Dethere, a French physician, and by Dr. Sheng Lian Feng, both of whom have examined the Emperor.

Feelings of safety pervade the household that uses the One Minute Cough Cure, the only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. It is infallible for coughs, colds, croups and all throat and lung troubles. It will prevent consumption. Howard Gardner.

INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITY.

The Fall Brings New Life to North Carolina Business—Many New Enterprises.

Special Correspondence of The Telegram.

Charlotte, Oct. 1—The industrial life seems to be taking on its usual fall activity, judging from the number of new enterprises which have developed during the week ending September 29, altough they are not yet definite.

Among the enterprises mentioned thus are the following: A $30,000 furniture factory at Spartanburg, S C.; a new hosiery mill at Shelby, N. C.; a knitting mill at Scotland Neck, N. C; a $20,000 lumber plant at Sippahaw, N. C.; and a million dollar bleachery at Fayetteville, N. C. which has been agitated for some time, the Chamber of Commerce now being in correspondence with the parties interested.

New industries materializing are as follows: Farmers Oil Mill and Ginnery, Clinton, S. C.; capital $30,000; a $5,000 automobile company at Columbia, S. C.; the National Bank of Lexington, N. C.; capital $25,000; the Charleston, S. C., Door, Sash & Lumber Company.; capital $20,000; a chair factory at Milton, N. C.; a canning factory at Goldsboro, N. C.; and the bank of Due West, S. C.; capital $20,000.

It is stated that the Durham Manufacturing Company will shortly add 13,500 spindles to their mill, giving a total of 23,500. The 60,000 spindle mill at Lovelace Shoal, N. C., has been commenced by the contractors; the Melrose mill at Raleigh is expected to be ready to start by November 1; the 6,000 spindle mill at High Shoals, N. C. has been started.

A twelve mile electric railway is being projected to run from Durham to Chapel Hill, and the matter will likely be laid before the people of Durham soon.

Might and right do differ frightfully from hour to hour, but give them centuries to try it in they are found to be identical.—Carlyle.

Pleasure once tasted satisfies less than the desire experienced for it torments.

A THOUSAND TONGUES.

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howard st., Philadelphia, Pa, when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure—"it soon removed the pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the Universe." So will every one who tries Dr. Kings' New Discovery for any trouble of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c. and $1. MONDAY OCTOBER. 1, 1900.

DETAILS OF THE GALVESTON HORROR.

Through its local forecast officials at Galveston, Tex., the Weather Bureau has received an exact and full report of the terrible storm which swept over that city on September 8th, from which may be gleaned details of the most fatal and devastating elemental visitation in the history of this country.

From the report it is learned that 3,636 buildings were totally destroyed and thousands of others damaged, the exact extent of the latter not being estimated. It is stated that the property loss is more than $30,000,000. It is impossible to make an accurate estimate of the number of lives lost, but it is known to be not less than 6,000.

It is almost beyond the power of the human mind to conceive that this unparalleled devastation was wrought in the short space of two or three hours on Saturday night, September 8th, when we in this section of the country were suffering from a protracted drought. The velocity of the wind at Galveston was from 100 to 120 miles an hour, and the island was submerged under water from a depth of from six to fifteen feet.

Nothwithstanding the horrible experience through which they have just passed, the people who are left in Galveston have taken an optimistic view of the situation, and with bravery unprecedented, are working to rebuild their fair city.

In urging Pennsylvania voters to pay their poll tax of 50 cents per capita before the expiration of the time limit, in order to escape disfranchisement, the Philadelphia Record says:

The vagabond will depend upon some other man, who wishes to buy a vote, to pay his tax.

The citizen who is fit to be a citizen will need no further reminder.

Along about the campaign of 1902 that will be a familiar cry in North Carolina.

The New York Sun is now engaged in the task of trying to prove that it will be to the advantage of Southerners to vote for McKinley. In view of the Sun's attitude in reference to this section of the country, it is altogether probable that what it says will have little or no weight with Southerners.

Minister Wu Ting Fang has expressed his pleasure at the suggestion that the United States government act as mediator in the settlement of the entire Chinese question. The Washington representative of the Flowery Kingdom doubtless appreciates the courtesy and consideration of the American people during all this trouble.

We have before referred to the splendid openings of North Carolina schools and colleges, especially the Guilford county institutions. A private note from Prof. J. Allen Holt says that Oak Ridge Institute was never in so flourishing a condition. The increased interest in educational matters is indeed encouraging.

Things must be in a tangle up in Connecticut. In one district the Democrats nominated a gold bug for Congress after unequivocally endorsing the Kansas City platform. It is not stated what will be the paramount issue in that district.

Some of the Pennsylvania coal operators resent Mark Hanna's action in interfering with the strike, saying that he is playing politics too hard. Of course. Had he not thought there was a political advantage to be gained he would have kept hands off.

North Carolina Democrats cannot help being interested in the question, Is Hon. W. J. Bryan closely guarding the friendship of Mr. Marion Butler? It is hard to believe that he is.

Now that the season of fall weddings is at hand, it behooves the friends of engaged couples to look around for suitable presents, for people will persist in getting married.

A New York saloon keeper has been convicted of setting fire to his place of business. Nothing is said of indicting him for the fires his whiskey has started in the souls of men.

The man who professes to believe that North Carolina is a doubtful State this year is destined to be disappointed in his desire for campaign excitement.

The indications are that "Grandpa Benny" will not take the stump for McKinley before Sheriff Cleveland declares for Bryan.

Up to the hour of going to press no one has put forward the claim that Mark Hanna is a howling success as a campaign orator.

Reidsville is beginning to rival Pelham as the mecca of eloping couples. Parson Walker must look to his laurels.

FOLDED TRANSFERS.

They Increase a Conductor's Work and Are Trying to His Temper.

"Some people have no sympathy for street car conductors," said one of their number after he had had a peculiarly lively time in making change and giving and collecting transfers, says the New York Times.

"Now," continued the conductor, "there is one little matter that would save us lots of trouble if the people would only bear it in mind, and that is the way they hand in their transfers.

"Some men and a few women know enough to hand us the little strips of paper just as they receive them—that is, spread out in such a way that we can glance at them, see that they are all right and then place them with the package already collected. The majority of people don't do this, and as a rule the women are the worst of the lot.

"When a woman gets a transfer, she folds it up into as small a space as possible and then stows it away in her purse. When the time comes to collect this from her, she fishes the wad of paper out of the purse, hands it to the conductor and sits back in her seat content with what she has done.

"The conductor has to unfold this piece of paper to see if it is really the proper transfer. This takes time, and when there are a dozen women on the car all doing the same thing the poor conductor has more than he can do to keep his temper. Men as a rule don't fold their transfers, but content themselves with shoving the slips into their pockets and then producing a crumpled piece of paper when it is called for, tossing it to the conductor, who has to smooth it into shape.

"The same people would never think of handing in a railroad or theater ticket in the same way."

Poor Shots.

All the principal correspondents at the front, among them Mr. Burleigh, Mr. Villiers, the war artist; The Daily News and The Times Mafeking correspondents as well as Sir Howard Vincent have testified to the poor shooting in unmistakable terms. Mr. Villiers' experience was a particularly striking one. While asleep in his Cape cart on the veldt he was ineffectually potted at 100 yards off by three gentlemen in khaki, who mistook him for a Boer farmer. As he tersely puts it, "I never felt anywhere so safe as when under my countrymen's fire." An analysis of the "withering rifle fire of the British advance" shows that in very few instances was a Boer hit more than once, while many of our men had several Mauser bullets through them, in some instances as many as 12 and 13. English as well as foreign doctors in Boer hospitals report that almost all the wounded Boers have come to their injuries by artillery fire. Dr. von Gernet states "that the British rifle fire is almost quite without effect," which, if the instances I can cite of regulars who were hurried to the front who had never fired a service rifle in their lives be at all general, can hardly rouse surprise.—Nineteenth Century.

ENGLISH AS SHE'S WRITTEN

A Telegram That Nearly Prostrated a Washington Man.

A lamentable unfamiliarity with English as she is idiomatically "spoke" on her native heath is responsible for a bad quarter of an hour which a certain young lawyer of this town will not soon forget. His wife has most pronouncedly correct tastes in everything, including dress. Such of her gowns as do not come direct from London town are built in New York by the most correct of English man milliners. When she made ready to go to Long Branch last summer, the young wife laid in a supply of clothes that should dazzle the natives. Her English man milliner was, however, provokingly slow about delivering things, and she was forced to set off without several of the frocks she had intended taking with her. For the first week after she went away she wrote to her devoted husband at home every day. For the second week she wrote every other day. In the third week four days passed without a line from her. On the fifth day a telegram was delivered at the young lawyer's office.

"Wife's body forwarded this morning."

The signature was a scrawl, but the message was enough to chill the very marrow of that young husband's bones. It had been sent from New York. He saw, in his mind's eye, his dainty little wife running up to town for a day's shopping. He thought of the frightful heat. He knew just how it had all come about, and with a horror stricken face he dashed out into the street and fairly ran to the house of his wife's sister to acquaint her with the frightful news. He was past speech when he reached the house, but he held out the fatal telegram. The sister read it.

"Well," said she, "it's time he sent it. She's been expecting it for six weeks. It's the one that goes with the pink chiffon skirt. I suppose."—Washington Post.

The Paris Cab Driver.

Outside of many wine shops in Paris and in the principal cities of France a sign is often to be seen bearing the words, Au cocher fidele ("To the faithful cocher"); beneath it a driver is pictured, hat in hand, restoring to a gentleman and lady, the hirers of the coach, a purse forgotten on the cushions of the vehicle. This is not a conception of the artist, nor vile flattery of the restaurant or wine shop to draw thither the coachman with a foible for the bottle, but a reality which often occurs and of which the cocher has every right to be proud.

Anybody who has lived any length of time in Paris will indorse the statement. Who has not forgotten an umbrella, a walking stick, a small satchel or some little object on the seat or floor of a public vehicle? And who has not had his property restored without even having taken the number of the vehicle, without any remembrance of the physiognomy of the driver? By a simple application to a special office at the prefecture of police, where all objects found in public carriages are deposited and arranged according to the date and hour at which they were brought in, one is able promptly to regain possession of his lost property.

This reflects great credit on the Paris "cabbies," few of whom, by the way, are born Parisians.—Harper's Weekly.

"Most Unique."

One can hardly pick up a newspaper nowadays without seeing the vile phrase, "most unique," as "It was the most unique entertainment ever given in Podunk valley." If a thing is unique, it is unique in the superlative degree. If it is not unique in the superlative degree, it is not unique. To say that an accident is "one of the most unique that ever occurred" is abominable. "Very singular" is a parallel solecism. —Exchange.

Fashion's Picture

Changes so often. Come here when you will and you'll see the world of textiles as in popular favor at the moment. So quickly come the new conceptions of fashion that many exquiste things are here and gone before other stores get them. This is the reason the mere mention of our name commands attention, because it implies an association with the newest and choicest merchandise offerings on earth. As is so often said, we are first in style, first in quality, and first in the hearts of our citizens. To keep the people posted about the values we receive almost hourly during the day, so that all might have an equal showing, why, we would be forced to issue an extra bulletin. It is wise, therefore, and to your benefit, to do as your neighbors do—come early and often. No telling what a day may bring forth, or at what hour an extra freight train will pull in at the station and unload a cargo of goods for us. Here today and gone tomorrow—this is the way we handle HOT STUFF.

IMPORTANT !

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 26th, 1900.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

On and after October 15th, 1900, we, the undersigned, will do a strictly cash business. Our reasons are as follows:

1st. Absolute NECESSITY.

2nd. Laundry, the world over, is a recognized cash business and justly so.

3rd. Our accounts are necessarily small, and it causes an endless amount of confusion and expense to collect, besides losses each year in bad bills.

4th. All of our current expenses, such as labor, fuel, gas and supplies are cash, hence the stand we take is forced upon us. While we very much regret, in most cases, to exact the spot cash, yet we must treat all alike, and we see no other way out of the difficulty. We trust our customers will lend us their aid by stating when to return laundry and by being prepared to pay for same when delivered. Our drivers will have positive instructions to return to the laundry all packages not paid for.

We have on sale at office (for cash) coupon books from $1 to $5 which can be left at convenient place at home, so that on delivery of bundle the amount of laundry bill can be torn out by the driver.

VERY RESPECTFULLY,

GLEANINGS.

The awards of the jury of final appeal at the Paris Exposition give the bulk of the prizes to French exhibitors, as a matter of course; but outside of the home awards the United States exhibits have fared very well. In every classification Americans carry off the larger number of first honors allotted to foreigners, save only in grand prizes. In view of the searching and unsparing competion of the best the world affords, American primacy at the Paris World's Fair may be fairly regarded as a conspicuous feather in Uncle Sam's hat.

A notable feat of modern engineering is the driving of the Great Northern Railway tunnel through two miles and a half of solid granite in the Cascade range. Boring was started at each end toward the centre, and so accurate were the engineer's calculations that at the meeting point the difference of alignment was scarcely one inch. This cutting through refractory material was accomplished in forty-five months by 800 men, operating thirty-two compressed air drills—a veritable miracle wrought by modern machinery.

The editor headed the item: "Outbreak Against the Jews!"

ROBBED THE GRAVE.

A startling incident, of which Mr John Oliver, of Philadeldhia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows; "I was in a most dreadful condition tion. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides; no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Electric Bitters: and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at C. E. Holton's drug store.

OUR RIGHTS IN CHINA

Translation and Study of the United States Constitution.

An International Understanding Brought About Through Transactions Between Our Government and Denmark.

The relation of the United States to the responsible government of China is, in some respects, different from that of any other nation. At the present horrible crisis all is confusion and chaos. In the future a lasting settlement is to be made. It will be full of difficulties, but America holds a place of vantage. The following paragraphs explain, in part, why this is so—why the high officials of China understand us better than they do any nation of Europe. When the first Chinese legation to the United States settled in Washington it was accompanied by a very intelligent and cultivated attache, by name Tsai Sih Yung. He came of an ancient Chinese family, one of whose members had been prime minister of the empire—a very unusual post for a pure Chinese to hold under a Manchu Tartar dynasty. He was a graduate of Dr. Martin's college at Peking and had also taken his bachelor's degree in the Chinese examinations. During his residence in Washington he formed a close friendship with Dr. Edward S. Holden, then one of the astronomers of the United States naval observatory. In one of their conversations Tsai was asked the object of the coming of his legation. "Why, it is to make a treaty with your country." "And how is a treaty made?" "It is a written agreement between your president and our emperor." "Nothing more?" "No, nothing more than this." It transpired that Tsai, and his minister as well, was totally ignorant of the treaty-making functions of the senate; and they were thrown into consternation when they heard the story of the rejection of the treaty with Denmark by the senate after President Grant had arranged for the cession of the Danish West Indies, and after the confiding Danes of St. Thomas and Santa Cruz had formally voted to accept American citizenship.

Out of this conversation, says the New York Sun, grew a project to translate the constitution of the United States into the Chinese language. For many months the Chinaman and the American met daily. Each provision of the constitution was carefully explained and discussed and then written down, with a commentary; on a subsequent day the Chinese translation was rendered back into English and again discussed until all was clear. Doubtful points were referred to Frederick W. Whitridge, Esq., of the New York bar, in writing, or, occasionally to Mr. Justice Bradley, of the supreme court. Finally the document was completely and satisfactorily translated with a marginal commentary and sent as an official dispatch to the tsung-li-yamen in Peking. A copy of it was deposited by President Holden in the library of the University of California, where it now is. On Tsai's part it had been a labor of love and on his return to China it won for him official advancement in rank and place. His American coadjutor was glad to give a portion of his time every day for nearly a year to this public service which has resulted in making the high officials in Peking understand the United States of America as they understand no other country. They are themselves a literary people and are used to relying on the written word. They know the organization of Great Britain or of Germany in a very different way from that of our own country, and we are, accordingly, trusted as no other country is.

Our opportunities at the present crisis are unique. Every European government is distrusted by all the high officials at Peking—by those friendly to foreign inventions as well as by those who hate and despise the foreigner and all his works. When the time comes to adjust a final and lasting settlement for the future it is in the power of America to take a high stand. The constitution of our government is understood. It is known that we desire no territorial acquisitions. We desire and we mean to have the freest opportunities for trade, and above all things the fullest protection for our citizens in foreign parts. It may be necessary for our troops to join with those of Europe and Japan in a punitive expedition. It may even be necessary to raze the walls of Peking to the ground, to plow the site and sow it with salt, as the Tartar Chief Jenhiz Khan was used to do with the rebellious cities of Bokhara and Turkistan. All this will be understood as a deserved punishment for acts which even the Chinese cannot defend. But in the final adjustment of relations America may hold a unique place; and this position of moral vantage should be safeguarded in all our acts.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and othaches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to moke you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

CANCER

Sufferers from this horrible malady nearly always inherit it—not necessarily from the parents, but may be from some remote ancestor, for Cancer often runs through several generations. This deadly poison may lay dormant in the blood for years, or until you reach middle life, then the first little sore or ulcer makes its appearance—or a swollen gland in the breast, or some other part of the body, gives the first warning.

To cure Cancer thoroughly and permanently all the poisonous virus must be eliminated from the blood—every vestage of it driven out. This S. S. S. does, and is the only medicine that can reach deep-seated, obstinate blood troubles like this. When all the poison has been forced out of the system the Cancer heals, and the disease never returns.

Cancer begins often in a small way, as the following letter from Mrs. Shirer shows:

A small pimple came on my jaw about an inch below the ear on the left side of my face. It gave me no pain or inconvenience, and I should have forgotten about it had it not begun to inflame and itch; it would bleed a little, then scal over, but would not heal. This continued for some time, when my jaw began to swell, becoming very painful. The Cancer began to eat and spread, until it was as large as a half dollar, when I heard of S. S. S. and determined to give it a fair trial, and it was remarkable what a wonderful effect it had from the very beginning; the sore began to heal and after taking a few bottles disappeared entirely. This was two years ago; there are still no signs of the Cancer, and my general health continues good.—MRS. R. SHIRER, La Plata, Mo.

WINE OF CARDUI

THE LINK THAT BINDS.

JACKSON, TENN., Nov. 23.

I was subject to miscarriage for three years, and suffered constantly with backache. I wrote to you for advice, and after using three bottles of Wine of Cardui, according to your directions, I am strong and well, and the mother of a fine girl baby.

Mrs. E. N. JOWERS.

McELREE'S
Wine of Cardui

There is no use talking—a baby in the house is the link that binds husband and wife together. Nothing is sadder than fruitless wedlock. The prattling and cooing of the little ones offset a thousand times the occasional worries and trials of life. When a wife is barren, there is a derangement somewhere in the genital organs, caused by one or more of those common disorders known as "female troubles". Wine of Cardui is the remedy. It puts the organs of generation in a strong and healthy condition, fitting the wife for the sacred duty of reproducing her kind. During the period of gestation the entire system of the expectant mother is built up to withstand the ordeal of labor, and when the little one makes its advent it is lusty and strong, well-fitted to grow to maturity in perfect health. The mother, too, passes through the trial with little pain and no dread. Wine of Cardui is truly a wonderful medicine for women.

CHINA'S FIRST LADY.

The Empress Dowager Said to Have English Blood.

Remarkable Intellect and Wonderful Characteristics of the Woman Who Rules the Destinies of the Chinese.

Few people are aware that the empress dowager is credibly believed by well-informed people in China, Japan and India to have British blood in her veins! There is no doubt that her mother was a European, though whether British, Portuguese or Russian deponent saith not, says the London Sketch. Though close on 70 years of age, she is still a good artist, and is said by those familiar with the Chinese language to be a fine poet. Some 13 years ago she solemnly presented a long poem of her own composition to the Hanlin college. Translation of those articles dealing with Chinese affairs appearing in leading European newspapers are carefully read by her, so she is quite aware of the jealousy and suspicion which animate the powers the moment the Chinese problem comes under discussion.

Very, very few of the millions whom she rules with an iron hand have ever seen the empress dowager. As regards all outward forms and ceremonies, she is intensely conservative, and it is said that she even discusses high affairs of state through a door and through a curtain. The Purple Forbidden City — in other words, the imperial palace, at Peking—is a huge human rabbit-warren, for there must dwell all those connected with the court, with the nominal emperor, his harem, and the thousand eunuchs who wait on the imperial family, and who aid the empress dowager in bringing on her enemies the mysterious disease, "pressed in anger of the inside," which has removed so many unpleasant people from her path, including, it is said, two empress consorts.

Tsze-Hsi enjoys wonderful health, and nowhere is her remarkable intellect more shown than in the matter of doctors and hygiene. She early grasped the fact that European women owed their strength of body and mind to their habit of taking a great deal of exercise. Accordingly, she learned to wrestle, and each morning takes it out of herself in this, for a Chinese lady, astounding fashion. Then, again, she is a great believer in the efficacy of cold water, and she has a horror of doctors and of sorcerers—indeed, she sends for one only when she requires the loan of a peculiarly deadly and potent drug.

It is believed that the empress' own life has been attempted no fewer than 80 times, but, thanks to her wonderfully well-organized detective system and also, it is but fair to add, to the real affection, and even respect, she inspires in her own faithful band of eunuchs, she has never been seriously injured. Very characteristic is her intense interest in all that concerns Queen Victoria. Pictures cut from London papers and representing the more notable events of the great sovereign's life have been framed and hung up in her inner chambers.

The empress dowager, as her name and, indeed, early career prove, was once a very noted beauty. She has remained much interested in the art of beauty, and dresses with extraordinary magnificence. On the other hand she remains faithful to the Chinese custom of wearing no precious stones, only very finely wrought golden ornaments and splendidly carved jade. Nothing makes her more contemptuously angry than to see a Chinese woman in European dress or aping any of the ways of a "lady foreign devil."

Filipinos Are Musical.

Despite the fact that the American troops are busily engaged in "suppressing" the Filipinos, a striking demand for musical instruments from this country is being made by the people over whom Aguinaldo once ruled. Consul Winter, writing from Annaberg recently, referred to the fact that there are few native Filipinos who do not play some musical instrument, and that the musical talent among them is great. The instruments for which they care most are mandolins, guitars, violins and flutes, and they have derived most of their supply thus far from the Americans. The average Filipino does not lavish money on his musical education, however, and is not able, as a rule, to buy expensive instruments. The Tagals prefer instruments with a showy exterior, and Consul Winter believes the archipelago offers a fine opportunity for the man who gets there soon with a large supply of musical instruments.—N. Y. Herald.

Oldest Ex-United States Senator.

An elderly gentleman who sat behind me in one of the parks, as the asphalt pavements sizzled and baked, asked me if I knew ex-Senator Bradbury, of Maine. "Do you know he is the oldest living ex-senator, and there were some mighty interesting times when he was here. Let me see! He only lacks two summers of being 100 years old, and his memory and political activity extend well back to the time of Andrew Jackson. Yes, he was an active man, a forerunner of the great men in congress which the Pine tree state has furnished. I understand he is now living at Augusta, Me., and still takes a keen interest in current political affairs." Later, I secured a photograph of ex-Senator Bradbury from Maine, and it shows him a wonderfully preserved man, 98 years of age.—Joe Mitchell Chapple, in National Magazine.

RICH HAVE HARVEST DANCE.

Interesting and Fun-Provoking Festival Given by Mrs. Fish at Newport.

The crowning event of the season of 1900 at Newport took place the other night—a "harvest festival dance"—and it fell to the lot of Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish to give this function. Previous to the dance Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, who was associated with Mrs. Fish in the arrangements for the dance, gave a dinner to 112 guests at Rose Cliff. As soon as the dinner was over the guests entered the carriages and automobiles and the journey to Crossways was begun. At the gateway of Crossways, surmounting the two massive stone posts, were two huge mock pumpkins made into "jack o' lanterns," each one 12 feet in circumference and inside were brilliant calcium lights. All the trees and shrubbery about the grounds were brilliantly illuminated by twinkling lights.

The peasants' dance took place in the drawing-room. All of the dancers were dressed in the Dutch, French and Hungarian peasant costumes.

Fun was added to the affair by the harvest offerings presented to Mrs. Fish by the guests as they entered the villa. Mrs. Oelrichs had a duck under her arm, Harry Lehr a suckling pig, Mrs. Belmont a shanghai rooster, Mr. Dolan a gander, Mrs. Ladenburg a chicken, and other guests had vegetables of all descriptions. At the end of the procession, and to cap the climax, appeared Herman Oelrichs struggling with a calf.

Elements of Chinese Disturbance.

Long travel through many countries has made it clear to my mind that there are three things which have wrought ruin in those foreign lands wherein honest trade could be built up by honest men. These are whisky, an enforced civilization, and a false use of the Bible. By whisky, I mean the introduction into such countries as China, Japan and the South Sea islands, of the manufacture of rum and its insidious, fascinating and ruinous effects on the natives. By civilization, I mean the introduction of such methods as are wholly unnecessary to an already civilized people, such as a change in dress, fashions, and other hybrid social customs. By the Bible—and I would say nothing against the good book—I mean the introduction of cant by unprincipled hypocrites, whose only aim in attempting to spread the Gospel has been their personal gain.—Robert Mackay, in Success.

Dowager's Name Has Many Syllables.

Tou-Hsi, the name of the Chinese empress dowager, is not her full name, but merely an abbreviation. Among the numerous distinctions enjoyed by the extraordinary lady is that of possessor of the most lengthy nomenclature of any Chinese woman, as her true name runs to no less than 14 syllables. When she signs it in full, as she does on exceptional occasions, it reads, Tsou-Hsiyu - k'ang - yi - choa - yu - chuang-ch'eng - shon - kun-ching-hsien-ch'ung-usi.

President Diaz of Mexico.

When Gen. Diaz learned of his re-election as president of Mexico, he said: "I must repeat what I said some months ago, that neither my age nor my capabilities qualify me to continue ruling the country. I am 70 years old, of which 43 have been devoted to the active service of the fatherland. As to my capabilities, I reaffirm my previous opinion, and I can only add that I will not withhold from my fatherland my closing years, if she requires them of me, any more than I have begrudged to her the unstinted services of my whole life."

Six Robbers in Evening Dress.

The six robbers who recently broke into the residence of Mrs. Hilda Cole in New Orleans and robbed her of $2,000 wore evening clothes and silk hats.

THE WEATHER.

For North Carolina: Rain tonight and Tuesday; fresh northeast winds.

Highest temperature for Greensboro for the past twenty-four hours ending eight o'clock this morning 80, lowest, 66; highest temperature on Saturday, last, 81; lowest Saturday night 67; rainfall Saturday night .05.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Some of the Things the People of Greensboro Are Talking About.

Miss Grace Clary will sing at the concert, in connection with "The Sleeping Car."

Mr. Joe Climer is again with R. G. Fortune & Co., returning to his position this morning.

Miss Frances, the little 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Harry, is quite sick.

The county commissioners held their regular monthly meeting today, transacting routine business.

The session of the First Presbyterian church will meet in the pastor's study at 7:30 this evening.

Mr. W. A. Underwood, one of the L. Richardson Drug Company's traveling representatives, will shortly establish a drug store in Randleman, says the Asheboro Courier.

Miss Lula Gardner, of Reidsville, who has been visiting her brother, Mr. Howard Gardner, on Summit avenue, returned home last night, taking little Miss Virginia Gardner with her.

Sanford Express: Mr. J. C. Patrick, who recently moved his family from Greensboro to this place, will establish a permanent photograph gallery here as soon as he can secure a building.

Messrs. W. A. Blair and Henry Fries, of Winston-Salem, passed through the city at noon enroute to Richmond to attend the annual meeting of the American Bankers' Association.

The Epworth League meets tonight at 8 o'clock in West Market church. A cordial invitation to be present is extended to everyone, and especially to the members of West Market church.

The Telegram is indebted to Prof. Broyles, of the Central Business College, for a handsome piece of display typewriting. It is a United States flag, and is a well executed piece of typewriting.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. and the Y. W. C. T. U. have secured space in the Exhibition Hall, at the Fair grounds, which they will have decorated and furnished as a resting place for visitors at the Fair.

The tablet to be placed in the First Presbyterian church in memory of the late Rev. Dr. J. Henry Smith is to be erected by the ladies of the church, and not by the Ladies Aid Society, as published a few days ago.

"The Sleeping Car," is one of the finest and most ridiculous things ever written by William Dean Howells, and the performance of it by home talent next week Tuesday night may be looked forward to as a great treat.

The tickets for the course of entertainments to be given by the ladies of West Market Street church are on sale at Ward's drug store. Now is the time to secure a good seat. Tickets are sold for $1, $1.25 and 1.50, and five good attractions are guaranteed.

Pied Up Over Judge Shaw.

The Charlotte News said Saturday: "Superior Court, Judge T. J. Shaw presiding, convenes Monday. Judge Shaw is a native of Moore county. He lived formerly at Troy, but is now a resident of Carthage. He was at one time a member of the law firm of Moore & Scales. He is spoken of as a fine lawyer and able judge."

The News is slightly mixed as to Judge Shaw. He is a resident of Greensboro instead of Carthage. The law firm to which reference is made was Shaw & Scales. The last sentence in the paragraph from the News is eminently correct.

A Sunday Afternoon Robbery.

The residence of John Pamar, who resides near the State Normal and Industrial College, was entered by a negro yesterday afternoon and robbed of a coat, a razor and some cakes. No member of the family was at home at the time, but the negro was met by Mr. Pamar as he was leaving. The latter did not then known that his house had been robbed. Later he secured a revolver and went on a still hunt for the thief, but failed to find him.
